

Bedtime can be a welcome routine.

These snoozing bees at fall remind one bedtime is often a time of anxiety for young people in care. Child and youth care workers know to make it a special, calming and youth-centred experience that will bring a better day tomorrow.

