

Empathy warms the soul.

Youth in care are defensive for good reason. Child and Youth Care Workers listen acutely with empathy in order to hear the young person's true self beyond the defenses. The Child and Youth Care Worker attempts to engage that true self in a dialogue over many conversations. In time and through listening at all levels a thaw takes place and the young person is able to reframe the past and heal.

CYC Canada.ca

Garth Goodwin for the Council of Canadian Child and Youth Care Associations