

Sexual Abuse is one secret a young person should not have to keep.

A significant number of youth at risk have been victims of sexual abuse. Child and Youth Care workers help young people to work through their trauma, resistance and denial toward a healing path. In Canada this work is just a job with expectations for professional education, performance and commitment. This work deserves to be a true profession with standards, regulations and oversight.

CYCCanada.ca

Garth Goodwin for the Council of Canadian Child and Youth Care Associations